Motivation, Special Skills, Favorite Subjects, Self-PR
My strengths are an inquisitive mind that gets to the heart of things, and a cooperative spirit that works well with others.
During a class at vocational school, when a new topic was introduced that everyone initially struggled to understand, I researched it thoroughly on my own to build a solid foundation from the basics.
I then carefully explained the content to my Japanese classmates in a way they could follow. As a result, I earned enough trust that classmates told me they wished I could be their teacher, and I was able to help raise the whole class's understanding.
I hope to bring this same curiosity and cooperation to contribute to my team's results after joining the company.

Besides my native Arabic, I can communicate in everyday English, Turkish, and Japanese, and I have experience in customer service.
